Ibusuki no Tamatebako

Ibusuki no Tamatebako, a "Design and Story" train, links JR Kagoshima Chuo and Ibusuki stations. Inspired by the tale of Urashima Taro, it is filled with features as surprising and delightful as opening a treasure chest.

Ibu-Skip Map

A digital, illustrated map loaded with information for sightseeing and places to eat. It can be paired with GPS-capable devices so that you can easily see your location on the map and search for places to visit.

Ibusuki - a retro, tropical town

Ibusuki city is located at the southernmost tip of the Satsuma Peninsula. With an annual average temperature of 18 °C, due in part to warm ocean currents, Ibusuki was once dubbed the "Hawaii of the Orient" during the honeymoon boom of the 1960s. The landscape is overflowing with majestic natural attractions including Lake Ikeda, Mt. Kaimon, and world-renowned natural Sand Steam Bath, which are a rarity worldwide. The warm climate also provides abundant gourmet delights such as okra, broad beans, and katsuobushi (dried bonito flakes). Ibusuki is a warm and happy place, with a tropical and nostalgic atmosphere. Enjoy Ibusuki, where both the people and climate are warm.

Tamatebako Open-Air Hot Springs

No. 1 in numerous scenic hot spring rankings!

One of Japan's finest infinity hot springs that appears to merge with the East China Sea before your eyes. Enjoy a Japanese-style open-air bath with a sweeping view of Mt. Kaimon, or a Western-style open-air bath with a view of the unusually-shaped Mt. Takeyama. The baths are swapped daily between male-only and female-only access.

Hot springs / Sand Steam Bath

Ibusuki's hot springs produce about 120,000 tons of water every day.

In addition to the famous natural Sand Steam Bath which use geothermal energy, hot springs can be enjoyed at various locations such as ryokan inns, spa facilities, and public baths.

Hot springs / Sand Steam Bath

A rare global treasure!
Natural sand saunas.

Sand Steam Bath

Experience a natural Sand Steam Bath on a sandy shore with an ocean view. Once you are covered in 50-55 °C sand, your entire body will begin to perspire heavily leaving you fresh and rejuvenated in just 10 minutes! The increased heat promotes circulation for an incredible detoxification. In addition to the sauna-like benefits, the sensation of sand and the sound of ocean waves will also heighten your relaxation.

Caution! Refrain from sandbathing if you have high blood pressure (180/100 mm HG or higher), heart disease, an irregular pulse, angina, lung problems, inflammation, or a fever.

How to Bath

1. Check in at reception, listen to the explanation, and borrow a yukata (cotton kimono).
2. Change into the yukata in the dressing room and take a towel as you leave.
3. Lie on your back in the designated spot and have sand poured over you.
4. After 10-15 minutes, exit the sand feeling rejuvenated.
5. Go to the shower area, remove your yukata, and use the shower to wash off the excess sand.
6. Enjoy a leisurely bath at a hot spring in the facility.

Ryugu Shrine

Did Urashima Taro set out from here on his journey to the Dragon Palace?

Set against the blues of the sky and sea, the vermillion-lacquered Shinto gate and shrine seem to transport you to the Dragon Palace. This is one of the birthplaces of the tale of Urashima Taro. It is also the location where he and Princess Toyotama (Oto-hime) met, so this popular shrine is a renowned spot for relationships. There is a unique form of prayer here—writing your name and wish on a shell.
